EXILED

There are times in our lives when we feel lonely, left out, abandoned and confused by what God is doing in our lives. Yes, even believers fall into depression at times. Ask Jeremiah, Elijah, David and Peter. In his late 80's, after so many of his Christian friends had died, the Apostle John refused to call the Roman Emperor Domitian, "Lord and God," so he was exiled to the Isle of Patmos to slave in the rock quarries. He was surrounded by convicts, he was barely fed, and his bed was a rock slab. (No Sealy Posturepedic) What a reward for standing strong for Jesus!

We go to church, tithe 10%, give to Lottie, Annie and Georgia, and take a covered dish every time the doors are open. Yet, we still have struggles and pain. Celebrities have Jacuzzis and spa days; we just have arthritis and dry skin. They have Mercedes and personal drivers; we need new tires and an alternator. Where is the comfort? Where is the prize?

Revelation tells us, "I, John, was in the Spirit on the Lord's Day and heard a great voice. . ." In his suffering and isolation, John still sought the voice of God and LISTENED when the Lord spoke. So many of God's messengers were isolated when He gave them His Word. When we feel abandoned and alone, we need to LISTEN for God's voice. He is ready to show us the next step in our life; our next purpose for Him. He is ready to comfort. Blessings, Ms. Claire
